

Summer Internship Position

Organizational Wellness and Learning Systems, Inc. (OWLS) is seeking a graduate-level summer intern to assist in preparing results from a Federally-funded research intervention project on resilience, and alcohol and substance abuse prevention among restaurant workers.

Responsibilities will include conducting statistical analyses and contributing to published research reports, under the direction of senior researchers. The intern will be a contributing author to at least one peer-reviewed journal article. The successful applicant will have strong data analysis and writing skills. Knowledge of SPSS or a similar statistical package is essential. Familiarity with multilevel analytic methods or prevention research would be assets.

Begin Date: Negotiable but not before May 15, 2009

End Date: Funding is available for a 3 to 4 month stipend

Stipend: Range from $2,200 to $2,600/monthly (depending on statistical software needs)
